EDUCATION-MENTORING-AND COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

November 18th & 19th 2022
9:00 AM - 3:00 PM

“What to expect...”

The conference will give students, their parents and all who attend additional tools that can be used to increase the academic success of young people and at the same time help parents to develop effective strategies to help their child create a vision of success.

The trainers and participants will discuss a variety of practical approaches to problems faced by students and their parents. While the workshops will address the needs of all children, they will give special attention to the unique conditions that confront Post Covid-19 students, especially our “At-Risk Youth”, with the intent of helping parents and service providers recognize and understand how those conditions may affect academic performance.
